About Dr. Debbie Silver

Today's audiences are more savvy (and demanding) than ever. They don't want a standup comic, a renowned author, or even a published expert with a doctoral degree – they want them all!

That makes Dr. Debbie Silver the perfect booking for nearly any kind of group. With an engaging style, an unbeatable sense of humor, and a keen insight into the science behind motivation, communication, and goal-setting, she knows what it takes to move your audience to a new level of performance... and how to help them reach it while laughing all the way.

Dr. Silver is a brilliantly funny, beautifully insightful, and boldly authentic speaker, author, and educator. She has dedicated her life to understanding learning and growth behavior and is a world-renowned and empowering speaker. Through her research, her outreach, and her humor, Debbie seeks to help leaders and team members find the joy in their daily job so that they can embrace the satisfaction and pride of knowledge, growth, self-worth, and achievement.

If you aren't sure how a veteran teacher, administrator, and behavioral authority can help you learn more about achievement, just ask one of the hundreds of groups Dr. Silver has presented to in the past decade. With keynotes and workshops in 49 states, Canada, Mexico, Europe, Australia, Africa, and Asia, she has happy clients and raving fans all over the world.

Whether you're looking for someone to inspire motivation, teamwork, stress relief, or leadership, Debbie Silver has a presentation that combines humor, storytelling, and science. It's rare to find the kind of speaker who can mix practical business advice with storytelling expertise, so don't miss this chance to book Debbie Silver for your next event today!

Uncommon Strands: Weaving Together Complex People in the Workplace

For the first time in American history we have three and even four different generations working side-by-side in the workplace. Add to that differences in learning styles, extrovert/introvert dissimilarities, and personality variations, and you may have difficulty with recruiting, building teams, dealing with change, motivation, and/or management. In this presentation, Dr. Debbie Silver discusses how an understanding of various distinct attitudes, behaviors, expectations, habits and motivational triggers can be used to maintain a cohesive work environment. This session is filled with humor and practical ideas for working with a diverse staff.

What Do You Mean There is No Cheese? Motivating Employees at Every Level

How to communicate with and reward employees is a crucial topic, especially for new managers or those who don't feel they have the trust and respect of their teams. Drawing on extensive research in behavioral science, Dr. Debbie Silver uses relevant research and a bit of humor to teach important leadership principles. Although different styles of management come in and out of vogue, the true principles of leadership and motivation haven't changed for hundreds of years. In this workshop, attendees will learn how to get top performance from their teams, year after year.

“Why Can’t They Just Do it The Way I Tell Them?”

If you’ve ever wondered why it’s so hard to bring some people around to your way of thinking – much less persuade them to take the action you want – this workshop is for you. Research tells us that people inherently differ in the ways they internalize information and respond to their environment. In this session about learning styles, participants learn about their own preferences and how to interact positively with those whose styles may be dissimilar. Dr. Debbie Silver uses humor, role-playing, and anecdotes to demonstrate how to get others to “buy in” to objectives that are important to a company, department, division, or team.

Debbie Silver's Reviews ★★★★★

"This was the most inspiring and helpful speaker I have been to in several years. THANKS!"

"Extremely enthusiastic. Great ideas and very innovative speaker."

"A presentation like this every couple of months would really keep me motivated! What a gift!"

"The time flew by! Dr. Silver's love for what she talks about is contagious, and her people skills are tremendous! I could listen to her all day."

"We need more presenters like Debbie Silver!"

"I wish all professional development activities would be this GOOD!"

"Debbie was funny, practical, and most of all, relevant! She turned her life experiences, and her passion in working with individuals, into lessons that supervisors can use to help their teams succeed. As a district supervisor, I took to heart the ideas she shared and appreciated the use of relevant research to back them up!"

"Our participants are still talking about your presentations. You truly made an impact on our entire system. I have already been inundated with requests to have you back. Thank you for touching this audience so deeply. Your passion and your sincerity rang true with our members. (Also, I think you missed your calling as a stand-up comic!)"
